Q2 - How do you prepare for committee meetings?

How do you prepare for committee meetings?

by reading the agenda/relevant materials

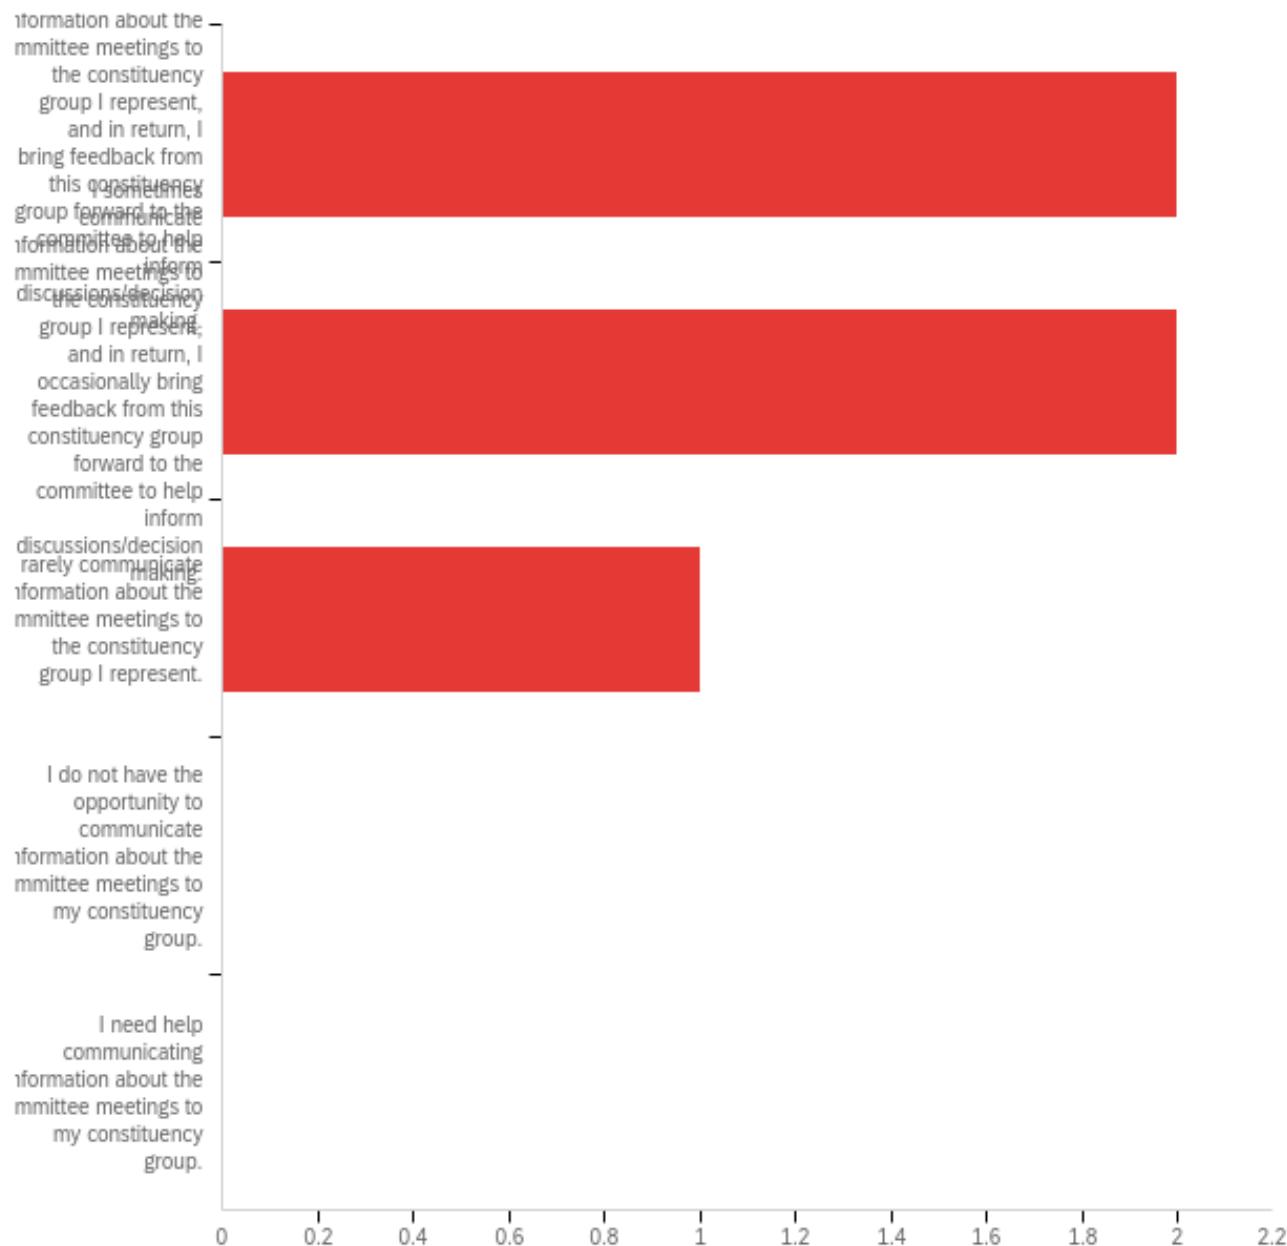

Meeting with co-chair and looking over agenda

Review last meeting minutes. Look over assigned readings from previous meetings.

Read through the agenda and reflect on materials from the last meeting. Communicate with academic senate via email or other methods.

I review the agenda and minutes. While I am an ex-officio member, I also account for any constituency concerns if I'm aware of them.

Q9 - Based on your experience on the council this academic year, please describe how the council's work could be improved.

Based on your experience on the committee, please describe how the committee's work could be improved.

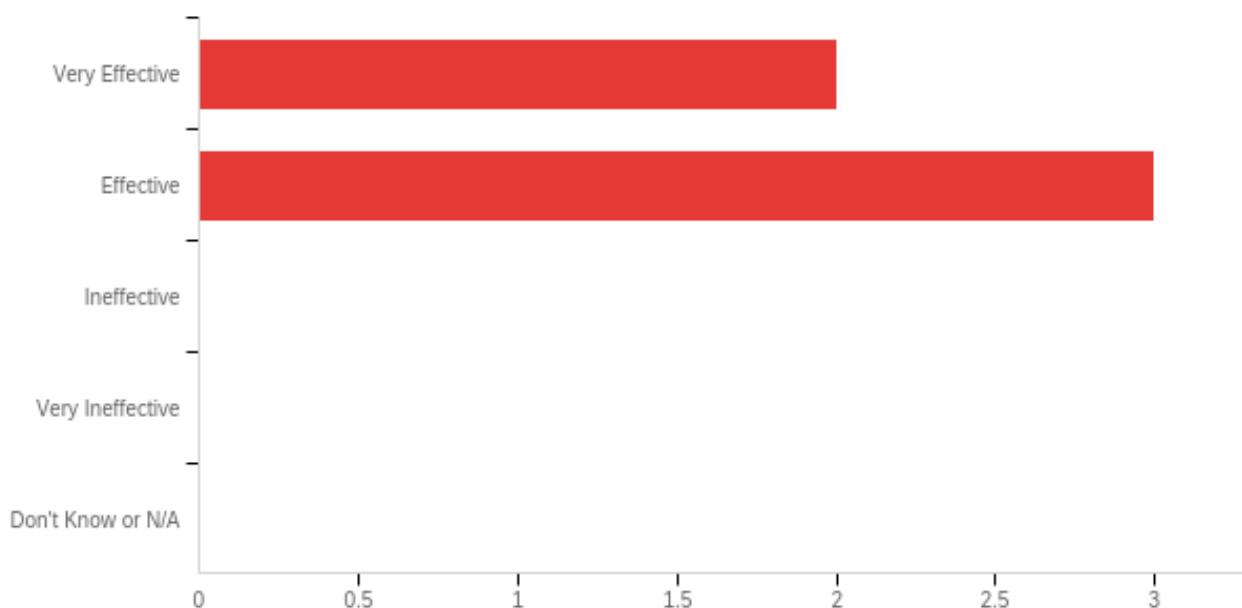

I don't think there is anything different on the approach the committee is taking or needs to take. I sometimes feel that the campus does not fully embrace the good work that the committee does or puts forth.

I feel like we don't have any issues brought forward that get voted on to be brought to college council

The Professional Development Committee is one of the best committees I have been a part of at Grossmont. The co-chairs have been extremely knowledgeable and have led good meetings. I wish we could go more from plan to action. There is great work we can advocate to do.

Q13 - Please briefly explain why you chose the response you did in the previous question.

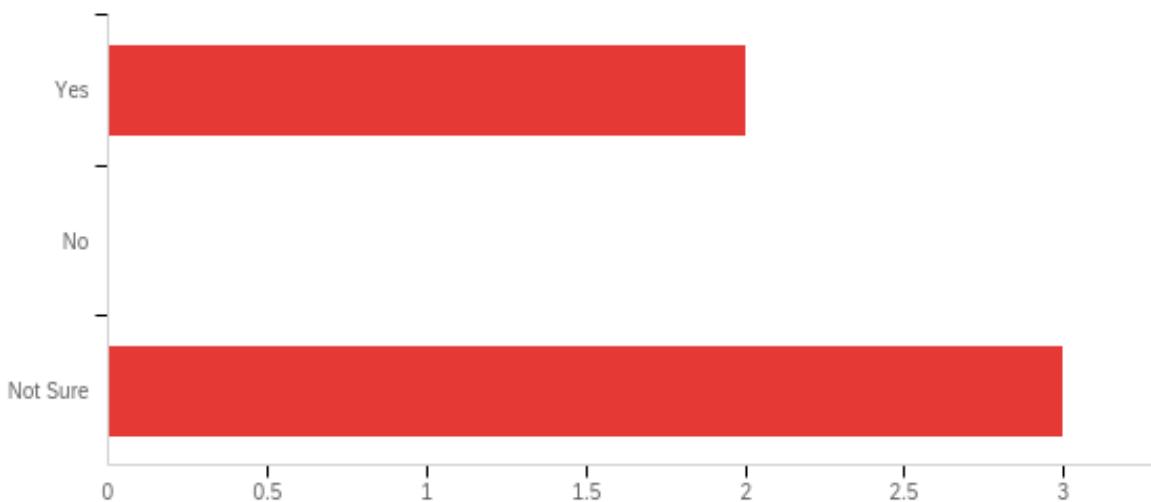

Please briefly explain why you chose the response you did in the previous question.

The information about the participatory governance process is widely disseminated.

More opportunities to bring issues forward

I believe that our expanded constituency input systems have helped assure our president that collegial consultation is happening and that recommendations made through the participatory governance structure are carefully considered before arriving at his desk.

Q14 - Would offering professional development directed at your role (ex. co-chair, constituency representative, member of a specific committee, etc.) in the governance process be beneficial?
